

Anti-Racism Series

Have you wondered how you can talk to your children about race?

How young is too young to start these conversations?

Join Us for Pizza, Activities, Conversation
and Resources

The YWCA of Greater Newburyport's Amanda Bradbury, Director of Youth Services, and Anne Upton, Inclusion Specialist, invite families into an interactive exhibit where you will experience first-hand how they are teaching children in the after-care program to be brave, informed and thoughtful about race.

Come alone, bring your children or your grandchildren, and take part in the Colors Like Me art project.

Together we can start the conversations that will nurture the rising generation and make our multiracial democracy flourish.
